October - 2025 ✦

Highlights from September and October 2025

September and early October at Vinayaka Mission's Law School (VMLS) reflected a period of celebration, reflection, and renewal — a time when academic excellence, social commitment, and intellectual exploration converged to define the institution's evolving legacy.

The month began with Aarambh 2025, a spirited Freshers' Day celebration that welcomed the newest cohort of aspiring lawyers to the VMLS community. The event embodied the joy of new beginnings and set the tone for a year grounded in learning, leadership, and camaraderie. Soon after, the Grand Inaugural Ceremony of the LL.B. (Hons.) and LL.M. Programmes marked a defining moment for the law school, graced by distinguished jurists and academic leaders who inspired students to pursue law with integrity, vision, and purpose.

This spirit of engagement continued with the State-Level Tamil Moot Court Competition 2025, hosted in collaboration with Surana & Surana International Attorneys, which brought together the brightest young advocates from across Tamil Nadu. The competition stood as a proud testament to VMLS's mission of promoting Tamil as a powerful language of law and justice while nurturing confident, culturally grounded professionals.

Academic enrichment deepened through Prof. (Dr.) M. Sakthivel's guest lecture on access and copyright, which examined the evolving dimensions of intellectual property and knowledge sharing. Complementing this, Orientation Week featured a meaningful Mental Health Awareness Session led by Dr. Saranya Ganesan, reminding students that emotional strength and self-awareness are essential foundations of legal success.

The month also celebrated research and community service — from Dr. Gnana Sanga Mithra's publication in Social Science & Medicine to the Free Legal Aid Camp at Paiyanoor that brought justice closer to rural communities.

As October unfolded, lectures by Dr. Mohammad Umar, Mr. Amrut Joshi, and Ms. Shree Seeva, alongside Dean Dr. Ananth Padmanabhan's address at the Madras High Court Advocates' Association, reaffirmed VMLS's unwavering commitment to scholarship, innovation, and social justice in the ever-evolving landscape of law.

The newsletter also highlights Anchored in Learning, an educational visit by final-year LL.B. students to the Chennai Port Trust. Organized by Mr. Saravanan Ravi, the experience offered firsthand exposure to maritime operations and governance. Supported by Dean Dr. Ananth Padmanabhan, the initiative exemplified VMLS's vision of integrating academic excellence with practical learning, preparing students for real-world legal challenges in trade and maritime law.

LEGAL MAXIM

Meaning:

Meeting of minds (It means that all parties to an agreement must understand and agree to the same thing in the same sense.)

Legislative Reference (India):

Indian Contract Act, 1872 (Section 13): "Two or more persons are said to consent when they agree upon the same thing in the same sense."

Section 10:

An agreement becomes a contract only when there is free consent between competent parties.

Example:

A agrees to sell his car to B.
B believes he is purchasing A's bike.
Since A and B are not agreeing on the same subject matter, there is no true meeting of minds (no consensus ad idem).
Therefore, no valid contract is formed.

In Simple Words:

A contract is valid only when both parties clearly understand and agree to the same thing. If there is confusion, mistake, or misunderstanding about what is being agreed upon, there is no real consent, and the agreement cannot be enforced.

Why It Matters:

- Ensures clarity and transparency in agreements.
- Prevents disputes arising from misunderstanding or miscommunication.
- Protects the integrity and fairness of contractual relationships.
- Forms the foundation of all valid and enforceable contracts.

"Consensus ad idem"

பொருள்:

ஒரே பொருளில் ஒரே எண்ணம் (ஒரு ஒப்பந்தம் செல்லத்தக்கதாக இருக்க, அதில் ஈடுபடும் இரு தரப்பும் ஒரே பொருளை ஒரே பொருளில், ஒரே எண்ணத்தில் புரிந்து அதற்கே சம்மதிக்க வேண்டும்.)

இந்திய சட்டம்:

இந்திய ஒப்பந்தச் சட்டம், 1872 (பிரிவு 13): "இருவர் அல்லது அதற்கு மேற்பட்டோர் ஒரே பொருளில் ஒரே எண்ணத்தில் ஒப்புக்கொண்டால், அது சம்மதம் எனப்படுகிறது."

பிரிவு 10:

ஒரு ஒப்பந்தம் செல்லத்தக்கதாக இருக்க, தரப்புகளுக்கிடையில் சுதந்திரமான மற்றும் தெளிவான சம்மதம் இருக்க வேண்டும்.

உதாரணம்:

A தனது நால்சக்கர வாகனத்தை விற்க சம்மதிக்கிறார். ஆனால் B, A தனது இருசக்கர வாகனத்தை விற்கிறார் என்று நினைக்கிறார். இருவரும் ஒரே பொருளில் ஒரே எண்ணத்தில் இல்லை. எனவே, Consensus ad Idem இல்லை — அதாவது செல்லத்தக்க ஒப்பந்தம் உருவாகாது.

எளிய சொற்களில்:

ஒரு ஒப்பந்தம் செல்ல, இரு தரப்பும் அதே பொருளை ஒரே விதமாக புரிந்து, அதற்கே சம்மதிக்க வேண்டும். பொருளில் குழப்பம், தவறான புரிதல் அல்லது எண்ண வேறுபாடு இருந்தால், அந்த ஒப்பந்தம் செல்லாது.

ஏன் இது முக்கியம்?

- ஒப்பந்தத்தில் இரு தரப்பும் உண்மையான புரிதலுடன் இருப்பதை உறுதி செய்கிறது.
- தவறான புரிதல் அல்லது குழப்பத்தால் ஏற்படும் தகராறுகளைத் தடுக்கிறது.
- ஒப்பந்த உறுவுகளில் வெளிப்படைத்தன்மை மற்றும் நியாயத்தை நிலைநாட்டுகிறது.
- இது ஒப்பந்தச் சட்டத்தின் முக்கியமான அடிப்படை கோட்பாடுகளில் ஒன்று.
